Mosotho Iketsetse Tracing Services (MITS) Pty (Ltd) is a company dedicated to addressing the complex challenge of unclaimed pension benefits for migrant labourers from Lesotho. These individuals, who contributed significantly to South Africa's thriving economy, often retire into poverty and obscurity, unaware of the financial benefits due to them. MITS is committed to righting this wrong by offering specialised cross-border tracing services.

Our Services >> Cross-border tracing of beneficiaries of :

Unclaimed mining pension fund benefits.

Non-pension benefits.

Problem Statement

- >> In South Africa, unclaimed pension benefits are estimated to total at least R4 billion, a substantial portion of which belongs to migrant labourers from neighbouring countries like Lesotho.
- >> The problem is multifaceted, involving:
 - Beneficiaries who are still alive but unaware of their benefits or the claims process.
 - Deceased beneficiaries whose heirs are unaware of the benefits due to them.
 - Deceased beneficiaries with contested family claims.
 - Historical lack of unique ID documents in Lesotho.

Why Choose Us

>> Deep Understanding:

MITs is founded by Basotho professionals with an intimate knowledge of the unique challenges faced by migrant laborers from Lesotho. Our strong networks with Lesotho's government agencies enable us to navigate these complexities effectively.

>> Innovative Solutions:

We utilize APIs to integrate with databases such as the Department of Home Affairs and National Employment Services, allowing us to trace beneficiaries with precision.

>> Integrity and Ingenuity:

At MITs, these values are embedded in our DNA, ensuring that every tracing operation is conducted with the utmost honesty and creativity.
